45th International SAS Pentathlon

Dear Pentathletes! Welcome to the 45th SAS International Pentathlon! At the time of my writing this introduction, winter has arrived with plenty of snow, and the Organizing Committee is progressing well in preparing for the next SAS Pentathlon. We look very much forward to welcoming you and our honorary guest

Selina Gasparin

Selina is Switzerland's most successful biathlete. While short of competing in five disciplines, Selina truly excelled in two: Cross-country and rifle shooting, and even more impressively, the combination of the two. The ability to hold a rifle still with a pulse of close to 180 is just as challenging as being fast on the skis or to put the bullet in the target 50m away! Believe me, I know! From 2008 to 2022, Selina mastered this sport at the highest level in the world, with victories in the World Cup and a silver medal at the 2014 Sochi Olympics, the second of her four Olympic Winter Games, as the pinnacle of her career.

Professionally, Selina has an education in sports and movement science from Norway. After graduating, she became a border police officer in the Swiss Customs where she worked for 15 years as an athlete and two years as a transformation manager in development operations. As recently announced in the press, Selina will become head coach of Swiss-Ski junior biathlon team in February 2024 following two years working as U18 developer.

Selina is married to Ilya Chernousov, a cross country Olympic medalist, and lives with him and their two daughters in Lenzerheide.

In the spring, we asked all you Pentathletes to provide feedback and your experience from your Pentathlon participations. We were very pleased by all the praise we received, and we also took away some key themes for consideration. In response to these, we will shorten the giant slalom and cross-country races and change the format of the Saturday evening dinner within the limitations posed by the hotel. We are working to find more affordable accommodation, but for 2024, all reasonable alternatives are already booked out!

Since last year's Pentathlon, we have sent out a few "Save the Date" emails, so you will know that the entry has been open for a while, with early bird entry fees valid until February 1. Registration remains open at www.sas-pentathlon.com.

With a sincere thank you to all our sponsors and a warm welcome to all of you in Grindelwald in March!

Yours,

Rolf Ringdal, President Organizing Committee

2. General Conditions and Rules of the International SAS Pentathlon

Special rules applicable to «Pentathlon Light» see 3.7

2.1 Aim

To foster polysportive interests as well as the famous «SAS spirit».

To encourage athletes of all ages, men and women, to participate in combined competitions.

To activate contacts between SAS and associates sports clubs.

To motivate team spirit. Team score is more important than the individual result.

2.2 Events

1. Giant-Slalom (approx. 30 gates, 1,45 min.)
 2. Ski-Jump (2 jumps only for distance, normal skis and bindings allowed)
 3. Target Curling (8 stones)
 4. Cross-Country on skis (approx. 5 km)
 5. Swimming (66,67m free style)

2.3 Teams/Participants

Teams of three persons, same gender or mixed, independent of age. Teams from universities, academic ski- and sports clubs and other clubs with friendship ties to the SAS.

The final selection will be made by the Organization Committee. Participants must reach age 12 in the particular Pentathlon year.

2.4 Conditions

- a) Each competitor must start in every event.
- b) Each team must appoint a Captain who will be responsible for the team being ready in all aspects.
- c) Each competitor will be allotted a starting number which must be worn in each event to be allowed to start. In the swimming event, the starting number must be carried to the starting block for identification.
- d) A competitor who is not ready to start an event at the advertised time may be disqualified for this event.
- e) A disqualified participant (infringement of rules) or a retiree from one and/or more events, is not eliminated from the competition, but will score no points in the events he did not participate. Only competitors participating in every event will be considered for the final classification.
- f) Exchange of team members will not be permitted after the briefing on Friday evening preceding the event, even in the case of injury, sickness and other reasons. However, the reduced team may remain in the competition and count for points.

2.5 Scoring

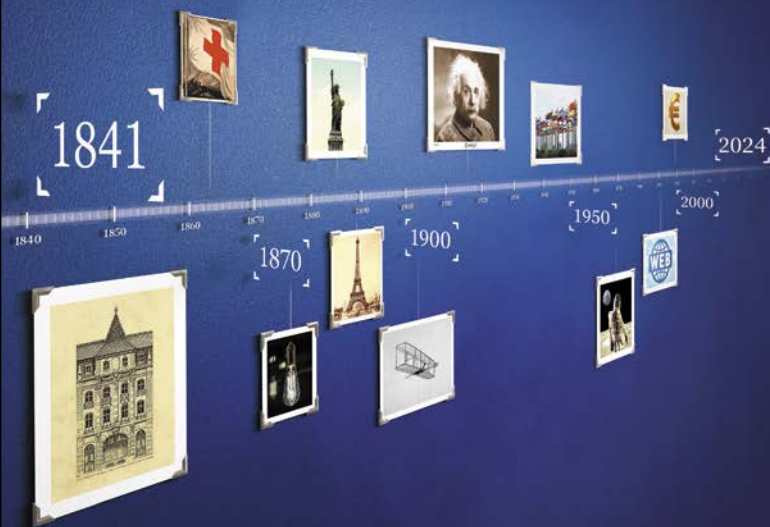

For each event the results and rankings will be decided on the base of a point method (based on 1000 points). Competitors will be ranked in an order of merit for each event according to the rules. The points gained in each event will be increased by the handicap points. The total from all events will decide the final ranking of teams and individuals. The method of scoring, which is based on International Pentathlon Rules, as well as the handicap formulas, are included in the Rules and Conditions for each event (cf. scoring tabulation).

2.6 Protests

Must be addressed by the Team Captain with the Event Organizer within 30 minutes of completion of each event. The Event Organizer will investigate the protest and report to the Organizing Committee. The Jury's decision is final.

History of the International SAS Pentathlon

The idea of the SAS Pentathlon originated in the Scottish Highlands. It was brought to Switzerland in 1978 and the first Organizing Committee consisted of Guolf Gattiker und Ivan Wagner. The history of the SAS Pentathlon, traced back all the way to its Greek Olympic origin, is described in the SAS yearbook «Der Schneehase 1975–1980». Since the first Pentathlon in 1978 and until 1994 Pierre Hirschy, former Lieutenant General of the Swiss Army and President of the Swiss Ski Federation, has been in charge of the Patronage of the SAS Pentathlon. In 1998, he was succeeded by Ivan Wagner, the former President of the Organizing Committee.

2.7 Order of Competitors and Teams in each event

Before the competition, a draw will be made to decide starting order of competitors and teams. This will be made as follows:

- a) Giant-Slalom: Each team will indicate seeding of competitors in three main groups. Group 1 will start the event, followed by Group 2 and Group 3. A draw will then be made to decide order of competitors within each group.
- b) Ski-Jump: Starting order according to initially allotted members.
- c) Target Curling: Teams will be drawn to decide order of curling. Captain will declare order of play of his team members before starting to Event Organizer. Six teams will compete simultaneously.
- d) Cross-Country Skiing: Starting order according to initially allotted numbers in couples.
- e) Swimming: Starting order according to initially allotted numbers in heats of four competitors.

2.8 Practice

Team Captains are responsible for the training and practice of their teams prior to competition. The facilities for each event will be available for last moment practice as follows:

- a) Giant-Slalom: Skiers may be permitted to walk up or to ski down by the side of the course prior to the event. The course will be set a short time before the race.
- b) Ski-Jump: One official practice jump will be required from each participant.
- c) Target Curling: One hour before the competition starts, each team will be permitted 10 minutes practice on a reserved rink.
- d) Cross-Country Skiing: Competitors will be permitted to run through the course prior to start.
- e) Swimming: Half an hour before the competition.

2.9 Indemnity; Insurance and Safety

No competitor nor official shall have any claim against the Organizer for damages, for injury to person or damage to equipment arising from the five events or during practice. Each competitor or official shall be responsible for his own insurances (accident as well as third party liability). Wearing a helmet is compulsory in Giant-Slalom and Ski-Jump Competitions.

PLAY IS POWERFUL

Right To Play is transforming the lives of millions of children each year. Using all forms of play like games or sport we create lasting impact and empower children with the knowledge and skills to drive change in their lives, their families and their communities.

"The chance I was given, every child should have. Physical and cultural differences should not be an obstacle to a child's development. Sport is in my opinion one of the most beautiful schools of life, which all children should have the right to."

3. Competition Rules

3.1 Handicap and Age Groups

Each female and each participant above 28 years of age will receive handicap points in addition to the net score according to the following rules:

Age	12–27	28 and above
Women (points)	175	5x (1997 – year of birth)
Men (points)	0	5x (1997 – year of birth)

A competitor with handicap points obtaining less than the cut off result (performance for 0 points), will lose handicap points for this difference, according to the scoring regulations. In the event of a disqualification, no handicap points will be granted for the respective event.

3.2 Giant-Slalom

There will be only one run. A penalty of 10 seconds for each gate a competitor fails to pass correctly will be added to his time. For telemarkskiers the run time will be multiplied by 0.925.

3.3 Ski-Jumping

Three jumps are required from each participant. The first is an official practice. The second and the third jump count for competition. Normal skis and bindings are accepted, however without poles. No skating allowed. The ski-jumping platform (hoppet) will be about 1/2 m high and allow jumps of about 25 m in length.

3.4 Target Curling

Captains declare order of play in each team to Event Organizer. In addition to the official practice, each team will be allowed to lay another 8 stones in order to read the ice before playing for points. Each competitor in turn plays 8 stones in succession, aiming to rest the stone in the centre of the «house» (target area). To assist the competitor in laying the stones, one member of a team may indicate from the «target» where the stone should be laid and which «handle» or «twist» should be given. The members of the team may sweep with a broom in front of the stone as directed, to assist in laying stone on target.

Any stone touched by a broom or a participant while in motion will be removed and will not count in scoring. Each stone outside the target may be removed after it has come to rest through the competitor in play.

Wealth Management

Dieses Dokument entspricht Marketingmaterial gemäss Art. 68 des Schweizer FIDLEG und dient ausschliesslich zu Informationszwecken.

Target Scoring: After 8 stones have been laid, those resting in the «house» (target area) will score as decided by the Umpire. Scoring will be as follows:

	Points
Stone or any part of stone in central white or blue circles	10
Stone or any part of stone in middle white circle	8
Stone or any part of stone in outer red circle	6
Stone completely in square target area	3
Stones outside the target (may be removed after stone comes to rest)	0
Maximum score	80

Practice: Teams are advised to arrive at their allocated ice rink for practice and advice. There is much to be gained from a little experience in learning how to lay a stone or apply the most effective sliding delivery.

3.5 Cross-Country Skiing

The free style race distance will be approx. 5 km on a fairly level course. The course will be marked and officials will be positioned around the course. Pacing of racers is not allowed. A competitor who is to be passed has to give way at first request. Competitors will start in couples as drawn, in intervals of 30 seconds. If a competitor starts too soon he will be recalled and restarted; his time will, however, be taken from the scheduled time at which he should have started. A competitor who arrives late may be allowed to start, but his time will be taken from the scheduled time at which he should have started.

3.6 Swimming

The competitors will swim 66,67 m in 4 laps in previously drawn heats of four beginning at the shallow end. Competitors will be called forward to start behind their starting blocks and with their respective numbers.

A competitor who fails to report when called will be disqualified. Competitors shall start from a standing position at the edge of the pool, and may enter the water in any manner providing they do not interfere with other swimmers. Competitors may swim choosing their preferred style and must touch the pool wall at the end of each lap. Failure to touch will lead to disqualification. In the event of a false start, the swimmers will be recalled by a whistle blow. In this case the starter shall call back the competitors at the first or second false start, and remind them not to start before the starting signal. If repeated for the third time in the same heat, the responsible swimmer will be disqualified.

On completing the course, competitors are to remain in the water and in their own lanes until allowed to leave. Having left the water, competitors should immediately move away from this area.

3.7 Pentathlon Light competition rules

An additional option with a separate ranking is carried out for teams of three consisting of competitors more than fifty or less than sixteen years old.

Every member of a team qualifying for the Pentathlon Light competition has to participate in the target curling and one additional event of individual choice.

All other Pentathlon rules and conditions also apply to teams and participants of the Pentathlon Light competition.

4. Challenge Trophies

- 4.1 «Jean Carotte» Memorial Challenge Trophy for the best team, (in Honour of Hansruedi Helbling †27.7.1972)
